

"REGENERATION" OWEN KILDARE'S PLAY, NEXT POLI ATTRACTION

SCENE FROM "REGENERATION"

Mr. Poli seems more than ever determined to give his patrons the very latest of the successful plays. He has made special arrangements with Messrs. Liebler & Co. for "The Regeneration," the latest dramatic sensation which recently closed an extended engagement at Wallack's Theatre, New York, after an all-summer run at the Studebaker Theatre, Chicago. The Poli Stock Co. will present this, the most daringly human story ever put on the stage, as their next week's offering. "The Regeneration" is by Owen Kildare. It is built from "My Sister Rose," Owen Kildare's well-known romance of the slums, which has been heralded as the story of Mr. Kildare's own life. The first act opens in "Cherry Hall," a dive on the Bowery, which is the home of a gang of toughs of which Owen Conway is the leader. This is one of the show places for stunning parties, and on the night of the opening of the play one of these parties visits the den for the purpose of witnessing a prize fight in the under world. The party is being conducted by Arthur Ames and the gang has arranged among themselves to relieve those in the party of such funds and valuables as they may have. The party having witnessed the first round of the fight, Ames is attacked and the thugs are about to go through his pockets when Marie Deering, a settlement worker, hearing the noise, goes into the dive from the street and bids the men stop. They pay no attention to her, but she insists, and turns to Owen Conway repeating her peremptory command. Through some peculiar influence she appears to have, she is successful, and Ames is allowed to depart. She then takes up the work of reforming Conway, and by playing on his courage, makes quite a respectable citizen out of him. Arthur Ames, who is in love with Marie, sees that the latter is in love with Conway, and in a strong scene convinces him that he will only drag his teacher down to his former level. One of Owen's old associates commits murder and appeals to Owen to help him escape. He takes this opportunity to make Marie believe he is about to return to his old life, but she follows him and love triumphs in the end. Miss Montgomery will, of course, be the Marie Deering, a part she has already scored in. The Brooklyn Times says: "Miss Montgomery was unusually convincing as Marie Deering—at times sweet and gentle. When the situation demanded she showed a depth of feeling and dramatic intensity that stamped her as an emotional actress of a high order." Mr. Ince will be seen as Owen Conway, and interest naturally will be among his admirers to see this popular actor in the habitments of a Bowery boy. Miss Brandt will have splendid opportunities for effective work as Nellie, Owen's discarded sweetheart.

INSANE ENDING, COLLEGE ROMANCE

Harvard Grad Who Speaks Seven Languages Placed in Bellevue.

GIRL BROKE ENGAGEMENT

(Special from United Press.) New York, Aug. 14.—Insane because of the end of a college romance, Herbert Fleischner, 25, a translator in the Navy Department at Washington, has been placed in the observation ward at Bellevue Hospital. His brother, Chester, of Boston, is coming to take charge of him. Fleischner, who had been in the Navy Department for three years, lived on Vermont avenue, Washington. According to the police, he fell in love with a beautiful girl while attending college. They became engaged. Fleischner began adding extra hours to his work. The strain became too great and he showed signs of a nervous breakdown. The young woman postponed the wedding in the hope that he would recover. He got worse and she finally broke the engagement. Wednesday he disappeared.

Yesterday Otto Durso, son of the woman with whom he boarded, in Washington, received the following telegram: "I don't know what has happened. As in the streets here sick and have no money. She will know. Answer to 135 Broadway, then I will meet you at the Penn. Station. Signed Herbert Edmunds." "Herbert Edmunds" was Fleischner's first name. At the same time he sent a message to the young woman asking her to reconsider breaking the engagement. The Washington police notified the New York police of Fleischner's disappearance. Among his possessions was a steamer ticket made out to Herman Edwards for passage as a cowpuncher on the Minneapolis train today and was mortally injured. The greatest inconvenience resulting from the strike are the deprivations committed by the strikers who have interfered with the telegraph and telephone service by cutting wires. Windows in nearly a hundred stores and factories were broken by strikers last night.

OFFICIALS WOULD PLAY THE POLICE

Baseball Game in View in Which a Shore Dinner Will be the Biggest Feature.

The City Officials' baseball team have an idea that there is a little baseball left in them and arrangements are being made for a game with the Police baseball club. Sets are flying far and wide, but the main idea in view is a shore dinner. Each team must be made up of strictly bona fide players, all singers being barred.

Some people tolerate roaches and water-bugs in the kitchen, in vain belief that the rest of the family will not find it out. Perhaps they will not, but suppose that some day you would serve a roach in the pie: perhaps then you would wish that you had spent 20c for a box of Cyrus Roach Powder.

Pretty Scotch Wedding Miss Frazer Becomes Bride of Alexander McKenzie

A very pretty Scotch wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Robertson, of 299 Sullivan street, last evening. The contracting parties were Miss Johanna Frazer and Mr. Alexander McKenzie. The bride was attended by Miss Margaret Miller, pastor of the Olivet church. The bride was attired in a very handsome white dress. The bridesmaids were Miss Sarah McKenzie of Albany, N. Y., and the best man, Mr. Donald Nicholson of Bridgeport. Miss Isabel C. Robertson was flower girl. The wedding march was played by Miss M. Lawrie. Mr. and Mrs. McKenzie were the recipients of many useful and beautiful presents, including household furniture, cut glass, and substantial checks. Also a very handsome set of silver from her former employers, the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Lewis of Park avenue, with whom the bride has lived since she came to this country. The happy couple will reside in Plainville, Conn., where the groom has fitted up a cozy little home. The bride has lived since she came to this country. They have the wish to see all their friends for a happy future.

STRIKERS ARRESTED FOR DYNAMITING

(Special from United Press.) Stockholm, Aug. 14.—Nearly a score of persons suspected of being implicated in a plot of anarchists to commit dynamite outrages were arrested in the strike confusion, were arrested today and thrown into prison. A magazine filled with dynamite was found and a room occupied by several of the suspects. The government is bringing pressure to bear on the Employers' Association to stop the importation of strike-breakers, pointing out that it is not only unwise from an economic standpoint but provokes violence. The greatest inconvenience resulting from the strike are the deprivations committed by the strikers who have interfered with the telegraph and telephone service by cutting wires. Windows in nearly a hundred stores and factories were broken by strikers last night.

DRAGGED ALONG TRACKS

New York, Aug. 14.—Arrested as a burglar in spite of his pose that he was a wealthy speculator, William O'Brien, flying through a window of a fast moving third avenue elevated train today and was mortally injured. Two detectives grasped him by the ankles as he plunged through the window and he was dragged along the tracks for nearly a block. When a passenger finally pulled the emergency cord and the train was dragged back into the train his head was literally battered into a pulp. O'Brien faintly dressed having plenty of money took an apartment in the Bronx. A neighbor in the same building last night saw O'Brien robbing his flat. Policemen, when summoned, found him in his own room and found there a complete burglar's kit of tools and considerable stolen goods. They started with O'Brien to a police station when he leaped from the train.

Mrs. Kinder Sues For Divorce Decree Co-respondent is Emma Hudson Whose Husband Divorced Her.

Forestina Pike Kinder of this city has filed an action for divorce against her husband, Frederick W. Kinder, the South End plumber, who formerly kept a shop at Myrtle and Railroad avenues, the action being brought on the grounds of infidelity. Emma Hudson, divorced wife of Sidney Hudson being named as co-respondent. In the complaint the alleged misconduct is said to have taken place between Jan. 1, 1908 and Jan. 1, 1909. During the last May term of the Superior court Sidney Hudson obtained a divorce from his wife, Emma Hudson, also for infidelity. Mr. Kinder being named as the co-respondent. Papers were served on Kinder yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Peter Toolan.

JOY RIDERS IN AUTO EXPLOSION

One Man Killed, Woman Dying and Two Others Badly Injured.

THROWN HIGH IN AIR

(Special from United Press.) Philadelphia, Aug. 14.—One man killed, a woman dying, another critically injured and watched by physicians constantly in the Women's Homeopathic Hospital and another man so badly injured that it will be weeks before he will be out, is the record of a "joy ride" in a borrowed automobile in Fairmount Park early today when an explosion of the engine occurred. The dead man is James Dugan, chauffeur, employed by the Milard Construction Company. The seriously injured man is John Taylor, 22 years old, Young Women's Homeopathic Hospital for internal injuries, feared will die. Catherine Bechtel in Women's Homeopathic Hospital, broken arm and injuries; Charles Flower, 26, of Jenkintown, lacerations and contusions of body, fractured right arm, dislocated hip and broken leg.

It was reported to the police that other women and men were riding with the party but have not been found. As the machine was striking along the road between Sixth avenue and Sedgely street, something went wrong with the motor and an explosion followed. Dugan was thrown high into the air, his body striking one of the posts to which the forward lamps were fixed. His skull was crushed and he died instantly. Mrs. Taylor, who was seated beside him, was thrown to the front of the car. Those escaping injury did so by clinging fast to the machine.

FIREMAN SNOW HURT IN WRECK

Bridgeport Trainman is Taken to Waterbury Hospital.

Beacon Falls, Aug. 14.—In a head-on collision between a freight and a work train here late yesterday afternoon Thomas Snow, of Bridgeport, a fireman on the regular, and Patrick Carroll, of Waterbury, a brakeman, were injured. Snow was cut about the head, and Carroll received a broken leg and strained back. Both men were taken to a Waterbury hospital. At the time of the accident the work train was standing still on the tracks and the freight train ran into it head-on. The cars and engines were smashed, also three box and one flat car. Snow received his injuries by jumping, while Carroll was thrown from the car on which he was standing when the trains came together.

FOUR BIG POWERS WILL HAUL DOWN THE GREEK FLAG

(Special from United Press.) Paris, Aug. 14.—The French cruiser Victor Hugo left Toulon today for Cretan waters to join the British battleship Swiftsure and warships from Italy and Russia, the four "Protecting Powers" of Crete. The re-assembling of a foreign naval force at Crete is taken to mean that the Greek flag, which the Cretons raised over their public buildings, when the powers withdrew their troops recently, in token of their desire for annexation to Greece, will be hauled down, even if force is necessary. The ships of the four powers will also intercept any move against Crete by the Turkish fleet which the French ambassador at Constantinople says is off the Island of Carpathes, preparatory to making a demonstration.

Diplomatic circles here are manifestly perturbed at the menacing developments. WOODCHOPPERS WANT TO

NOT ABLE TO GET MUCH TROLLEY CO. WILL TAKE LITTLE

Desires Now Permission to Cut Away Part of Curb at Water Street and Fairfield Avenue.

The Connecticut Company will probably ask the Common Council at its next meeting permission to remove a part of the sidewalk in Fairfield avenue on the southwest corner of the avenue in Water street. Engineer C. C. Elwell before the permanent paving commission showed a map in which he said that there was a point in the roadway in front of the Atlantic Hotel where big cars could not pass without striking sides. He said this condition causes a congestion of traffic in the city and can be remedied if the company is allowed to move the curb and broaden the dummy gauge at this point. When this matter is determined by the Common Council the street railway will repave Fairfield avenue, Mr. Elwell said.

The editor of the Columbus Citizen says: "Jimmie O'Rourke is the idol of the fans here, and certainly has made good in the estimation of all the people in this circuit who admire him for the genial courtliness of his ways.
